Floods of July 1916: How the Southern Railway Met an Emergency In word and picture this volume details the awesome drama: How the Southern Railway met an emergency. On July 15 and 16, U.S. rainfall records were shattered when more than 22 inches of rain fell on the already saturated North Carolina mountains during a 24-hour period. An estimated eighty to ninety percent of this deluge rushed down the mountainsides into the region's already swollen streams and rivers, which crested high above their normal flood stages. Numerous bridges and spans were damaged or destroyed, and 686 miles of Southern Railway track in Tennessee, South Carolina, and North Carolina were taken out of service due to damage. Of the four lines running into Asheville, North Carolina, only one-the Murphy Branch-remained operational. Within days crews were repairing the damage. Within a few weeks tracks were relaid, bridges re-built, and the trains were running again. Over 100 stirring photographs accompany this tale of a devastating natural disaster and the incredible human accomplishment that followed. It is a volume no railroad library should be without.	$21.95	$2.00
Southern Railway: Further Recollections - Pictorial History Book published from the Archives of the SRHA This volume takes a more detailed look at a historic railroad that has served the South for over 100 years. Included in these pages are stories of bravery in war and ingenuity in peace. From 1942 to 1945, the 727th Railway Operating Battalion-sponsored by the Southern Railway-served in North Africa and up the spine of Italy into Germany. Also included are histories of yard construction, and the steam programs. 128 pages	$18.00	$4.00

Norfolk Southern's Greenville to Atlanta Main DVD - Big E Productions DVD covering this former Southern Railway line. 61 Minutes in length      $30.95    $2.00

This program shows the trains and operations for over 24 hours on the historic Washington to Atlanta main line of the former Southern Railway System around Clemson, South Carolina in October of 2006. Clemson is 119 miles north of Atlanta and thirty miles from Greenville in the Piedmont Region of South Carolina. The Piedmont Region is far from level, and there are few extended straight sections of track in this rolling country between the coastal plain and the Blue Ridge. This up and down line has grades around one per cent and is part of Norfolk Southern's busy artery between the Northeast and Southeast and the traffic on this line has grown since NS took over their share of Conrail seven years ago. Amtrak's New York to New Orleans Crescent still provides passenger service on this line to the larger cities between Washington and Atlanta. This DVD is sixty one minutes in length.

Norfolk Southern's Atlanta to Macon Main DVD - Big E Productions DVD covering this former Southern Railway line. 113 Minutes in length      $30.95    $2.00

Norfolk Southern's strategic Atlanta South District between Atlanta and Macon, Georgia serves as NS's gateway between south Georgia and Florida and the rest of their system. The Atlanta South District, part of their Georgia Division, stretches for 94 miles between Inman Yard in Atlanta and Brosnan Yard in Macon. Today this line is a heavy duty main line with thick ballast, heavy rail, and two mile long controlled sidings about every eleven miles. The number of trains on this critical section of track has doubled in the past 30 years. This busy line through the rolling and often wooded countryside south of Atlanta is handling the most trains and tonnage of its one hundred and twenty year history. Norfolk Southern's Atlanta to Macon Main shows the trains and operations for over 24 hours on Norfolk Southern's Atlanta South District in October of 2002. This DVD is one hour and 53 minutes long.

Norfolk Southern's Atlanta to Birmingham Main DVD - Big E Productions DVD covering this former Southern Railway line. 70 Minutes in length      $30.95    $2.00

Norfolk Southern's former Southern Railway main line between Atlanta and Birmingham is quite a mountain railroad. Known as the East End District, this busy line crosses a southern extension of the Blue Ridge near the Georgia-Alabama border and a southern extension of the Appalachian Mountains as it approaches Birmingham. A large increase in the number of finished autos has pushed the number of freight trains on this line to perhaps its highest total in the modern era as three automotive assembly plants have opened on Norfolk Southern in the South in recent years. And intermodal traffic is poised for further growth as Union Pacific ramps up its use of Kansas City Southern's Meridian Speedway as a shortcut for intermodal traffic between the West Coast, Texas, and Atlanta. NS Atlanta to Birmingham Main shows over 24 hours of traffic on Norfolk Southern's East End District between Atlanta and Birmingham in the spring of 2008. This DVD is seventy minutes in length.
